

French

Why Study A Level French?

Whatever your ambitions for the future a qualification in a language shows that you are a communicator and have developed important study skills, which are greatly valued by employers and institutions of higher education.

The aim of this course is to enable you to communicate effectively, to increase your awareness of important issues; and to express yourself accurately.

Course Content

The specification enables candidates to:

- Cultivate an interest and passion for French and its culture, both historical and current
- Discuss topical issues, giving views and opinions on a wide variety of subjects
- Improve their presentation and discussion skills
- Research specific areas of interest to themselves
- Read and listen to a variety of different authentic materials from France and around the world
- Develop your prior grammatical knowledge, giving you a greater understand and appreciation for languages

Units covered are:

- Context 1: Relationships
- Context 2: Health and Lifestyle
- Context 3: Young People in Society

Assessment

Assessment consists of a speaking exam and one listening, reading and writing paper.

Exam Board: To be confirmed.

Progression

Being able to speak another language is an invaluable skill that is highly valued by employers in our multilingual global society. Having a language qualification can also be a prerequisite for other university courses so it is something important to consider if you wish to progress on to university. Language skills are in demand and can be a real asset in a range of careers including law, journalism, banking, tourism, media and marketing, government, teaching and business.